Rivers were once the highways of prehistoric Florida, but how did Native Americans make the canoes they used to get around?

Join archaeologists from the Florida Public Archaeology Network to explore the ancient dugout canoes of Florida. There will be a presentation followed by hands on activities. Recommended for all ages.

Where: Florida Museum of Natural History
3215 Hull Road
Gainesville, FL 32611

When: Sunday, November 6th
2:00pm – 4:00pm

To register:
https://www.eventbrite.com/e/archaeology-works-canoe-tickets-26081866565?aff=es2

For more information: Call Nigel at 352.228.6040 or email snrudolph@usf.edu