Highlight of the Quarter

Cemeteries are safer since the second quarter began. In response to request for CRPT workshops, FPAN-NE attended four across the state. First was DeLand (Volusia County) facilitated by Sarah and Amber with a rural cemetery presentation provided by Volusia County Historic Site specialist Julie Scofield. Sarah traveled to West Palm Beach to facilitate the first CRPT in the Southeast Region. Amber presented an impromptu CRPT for a group in Interlocken (Putnam County) that was intended to be a planning meeting but turned into workshop day when she arrived. She also traveled to Tampa to assist the West Central Center with a CRPT in Sarasota. Assessment of CRPT is ongoing (45 cemeteries recorded by attendees to date) as we continue to present professional papers and posters on CRPT, including the Southeastern Archaeological Conference (SEAC) this quarter.

Progress on Work Plan Objectives

- Goal 2: Leadership Committee for Project Archaeology continued work on aligning Investigating Shelter materials for Common Core State Standards. This will help FPAN market to educators in Florida as the new curriculum is adopted nationwide in 2014. Started planning summer workshops to offer professional development opportunities for heritage educators and FPAN staff.
- Goal 10: Held Development Committee conference call. Drafted problem paper and presented it to the board via Adobe Connect conference call.

FPAN-NE participates in 2nd Annual National Archaeology Day with Archaeolympics in partnership with the GTM-NERR Preserve.
